

FSPs Provide Comprehensive, Intensive Mental Health Services for Youth and Their Families in Their Homes and Communities.

FSP programs have several defining characteristics, including providing a wide array of services and supports, guided by a commitment by providers to do “whatever it takes” within the resources available to help individuals within defined populations make progress on their particular paths to recovery and wellness.

Youth and young adults will find the following are potential examples of mental health services and supports clients may receive if participating in FSPs:

- Counseling and psychotherapy
- Assistance in obtaining transportation relating to the mental health treatment goal
- Help obtaining needed medication
- Help receiving physical health care
- Assistance in finding a safe and affordable place to live or assistance remaining in a present home
- Help with educational opportunities
- Help securing financial and health benefits to which you are eligible for
- Treatment for addictions, such as alcoholism, drugs and other substances
- Help finding employment, vocational training and/or volunteer opportunities
- Dedicated professionals committed to your success in accomplishing goals that are important to your health, well-being, safety and stability
- Support available 24/7

Key Components of Transition Age Youth FSP Programs

TAY FSP program providers may deliver services in your residence as well as in your community. TAY FSP services are available 24 hours a day (for crisis intervention). Each client enrolled in a TAY FSP program will participate in the creation of a plan focused on individualized goals with the assistance of clinicians and case managers.

Services provided by the TAY FSP program vary from person to person. Clients enrolled in TAY FSP will receive mental health services that are individually tailored and consistent with your individual needs and goals.

Who Is Eligible to Receive TAY FSP Services?

The TAY Division of the Department of Mental Health emphasizes outreach and engaging TAY (ages 16-25) who are currently unserved and under-served, including the following:

- TAY struggling with substance abuse disorders
- TAY who are homeless or at risk of homelessness
- TAY aging out of the children’s mental health, child welfare or juvenile justice system
- TAY leaving long-term institutional care
- TAY experiencing their first episode of major mental illness

FSP is an enrollment-based program and clients must be referred to the program. There are two ways a Transition Age Youth client can be referred to FSP:

- FSP agencies identify through outreach individuals who may be eligible and submit Full Service Partnership referral and authorization forms to the Impact Unit.
- Individuals may be referred to the Impact Unit by a non-FSP entity (e.g. mental health services providers, social service agencies and the community).

Interested in FSP Services?

To be considered for a Transition Age Youth FSP program, a referral must be submitted to a Department of Mental Health Impact Unit on your behalf. The referral will be screened for eligibility by a group of representatives from the Department of Mental Health, FSP programs and other human services professionals, as appropriate. If you are accepted into the FSP program, you will be contacted by the FSP services provider assigned and service will begin immediately. If you are not accepted into the FSP program, the team of professionals will help link you to other services and supports that may be helpful to you.

If you have questions regarding the referral process or how the FSP program works, please contact:
